RECITATION BY THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Deborah and her brother James were playing very hard. They suddenly looked up to see two tall men in the yard.

"Your donkeys, Son," the first man said. "We've come here to get them." "No!" Deborah said emphatically. "James! We mustn't let them."

"Children, you don't understand." The second man was kind. "The Master needs them right away. We know that you won't mind."

"These are the very animals. The Master sent us here. What was foretold will be fulfilled—the prophet's words are clear."

"The Master?" Deborah asked thoughtfully, "Is Jesus Christ His name? I sat upon His knee one time. Is that who?" "Yes the same."

"Good-bye," James whispered tenderly to his little pet. "The Master needs you, so be brave and good, now don't forget."

An hour or two afterwards, Deborah and James heard suddenly some mighty shouts and stopped playing their games.

"I've never seen such crowds before" said Deborah, amazed. "They're shouting out hosannas! Who on earth is being praised?"

People waving branches of palm trees they'd cut down—It looked like they were going to make a pathway through the town.

With branches from the trees, and cloaks, they spread them on the way. Some very special person must be coming through today.

"Who is it?" But the answer came as He rode into view. Jesus! The prophet of Nazareth on the donkey that they knew.

"Hosanna!" James joined with the crowd. "Hosanna!" Deborah shouted. And the Master smiled for them just then they never doubted.

"Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." Still rang the joyous songs as gradually the multitudes became more distant throngs.

"To think!" the children said in awe, "Our pet the Master rode. Jesus Christ, the Son of God became his first full load."

SONGS BY THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN

C: Such is the company of those who seek him, who seek the face of the God of Jacob.

L: Lift up your heads, O gates!
and be lifted up, O ancient doors!
that the King of glory may come in.

C: Who is the King of glory?
